Sean McClory Wrestles With Tongue-Twister

Irish actor Sean McClory, who didn't learn English until he was 10 and has only been in the U.S. five years, almost came a-cropper with a piece of dialogue for his role in "Plunder of the Sun."

On location in Mexico at the ancient Zapotecan ruins, Sean arrived on the set brimming with enthusiasm. But his spirits were slightly dampened when he was handed an additional bit of dialogue for a sequence with star Glenn Ford.

It read: "According to Eligio Ancona and Molina Solis the Zapotecan ruins at Mitla are 2,500 years old. Actually it came to an end with the Conquistadores and their horrible auto de fes. Tacatecutlan worked overtime, believe me."

"I recommend these lines," said Sean, "for anyone who is looking for a substitute for 'Sister Susie's sewing shirts for soldiers.'"

Nancy Wins Role, Loses Long Hair

Nancy Olson sacrificed four inches of her blond hair when she jumped into her top role with Jane Wyman and Sterling Hayden in "So Big."

"I was wearing my hair long for 'The Boy From Oklahoma,' with Will Rogers Jr., before I went immediately into this new picture," she said, "now I'm shorn to a boyish bob and I feel positively bald."

Cooper to Buy Sports Car

Gary Cooper will buy another sports car in Europe when he goes there this summer. Cooper, who just completed "Blowing Wild" in Mexico, will bring the car back with him after making a film in Italy.

Captain Fontaine of 'Desert Song' Gets Given Name

A leading character from the Sigmund Romberg operetta, "The Desert Song," has at long last been given a first name.

The role of Captain Fontaine, the French Legionnaire in the musical, was never identified in the original Romberg classic as having a given name.

In the forthcoming Technicolor production of the musical hit, Steve Cochran has love scenes with Kathryn Grayson. Director Bruce Humberstone decided it would be "out of character" for Miss Grayson to call Steve Captain Fontaine in the middle of a buss, so he christened the captain, Henri.

So from now on, it is Capt. Henri Fontaine.

Bond's Sox Hit Snag in Movie

"Blowing Wild," filming in Mexico City, almost came to a halt when a pair of size 13 sox couldn't be found in the Mexican capital for Ward Bond.

Bond needed a pair of thick wool boot sox for his role of an oil wildcatter, and Mexicans, it was discovered, have small feet.

Problem was solved when picture's star Gary Cooper donated a pair of his size 13's to Bond.

Brasselle Punchin' for Fight Film

Keefe Brasselle, who recently completed "The Eddie Cantor Story" wants the studio to put him in a fight picture and has been sparring for the last few weeks with studio trainer Mushy Callahan.

"What happens if you don't get a fight role?" Mushy asked Keefe.

"I'll scrap the whole idea," the actor answered.

Actor Startled by 'Wolf Whistle'

Glenn Ford stepped off the plane in Mexico to film "Plunder of the Sun," and was "greeted" by a loud wolf whistle.

Glenn was crossing the landing field where hundreds of Mexican fans were awaiting his arrival, when someone let out with the distracting whistle.

A startled Glenn looked around and breathed a sigh of relief when he noticed a pretty senorita coming down the ramp.

"There's one thing all nations have in common," he remarked, "an appreciation for good-looking women and a universal way of expressing it."

Film Moppet Adopts Gregory as a Pet

Beatrice Gray, mother of 14-year-old Billy Gray, is proud of her son's acting ability, but sometimes wishes he wouldn't be so convincing in his performance.

For weeks Billy showered devotion on a turkey named Gregory, who is supposed to be his and Doris Day's pet in Technicolor musical "By the Light of the Silvery Moon." Billy became so devoted to the gobbler that he pleaded with his mother to let him have Gregory as a pet. Mrs. Gray gave in, and now Gregory is a permanent house guest—until Thanksgiving.

Near Tragic Tale of a Horse's Tail

Rusty, the chestnut gelding which Guy Madison is riding in Natural Vision 3-D film "The Charge at Feather River," lost part of his tail when a flaming arrow brushed past his hindquarters.

Although the horse was unharmed, part of his tail was seared off. So Rusty is finishing the picture with a tail-piece created by a studio make-up artist.

Beauty Supine in Pine Box

Phyllis Kirk, one of Hollywood's most animated young actresses, spent a whole day supine in a coffin for a scene in true three-dimension Natural Vision feature "House of Wax."

"It's as close to death as I would like to come," said Phyllis, who stars in the film with Vincent Price, Frank Lovejoy, Carolyn Jones and Paul Picerni.

Rogers Touts Story

Will Rogers Jr., starring in "The Boy From Oklahoma," is trying to interest Warner Bros. in doing a film biography of Charles Russell, famed painter of old West scenes.

Russell, born in St. Louis of well-to-do parents, spent much of his life in relative poverty among the cowboys of Montana. The painter, who died in 1926, was a close friend of Will Rogers Sr.

Distillery Equines Drafted

From distillery truck to screen fame is the Cinderella story of Jack and Jill, the only brother and sister horse team in movies. The horses, which were formerly in the service of a brewery company, were drafted into the movies to pull a snow sled in Technicolor musical "By the Light of the Silvery Moon," starring Doris Day and Gordon MacRae.

Courtin' Actor

James Brown, who was discovered for the movies on the tennis courts of Houston, returned to the Texas city upon completion of his role in true 3-D Natural Vision drama "The Charge at Feather River." Brown went to compete in the River Oak tennis tourney.

INTERESTING
LETTERS FROM
KATY'S FANS

Dear Katy Keene:

I'm a curious 10 year old girl and I know you get lots of fan mail. I enjoy your comics very much and I hope all the other children in the world do too. Have you got a real boy friend named K.O. Kelly? Or is he somebody else? Is that little girl your daughter or what? If you live by Roy Rogers tell him about me.

Yours always,
MARY CAROL GERRITY
Dore, No. Dakota, Box 173

Dear Katy Keene:

How are you? Hope you are fine. How is your sister? You are very pretty. Here is a poem I made up.

Beets are red
The sky is blue
Sugar is white
So kisses to you.

Sincerely yours,
ALICE PANKER
School Lane, Chester, Conn.

Dear Katy Keene:

551 De Kalk Avenue, Brooklyn 5, N. Y.

I was overwhelmed with joy and very surprised to find that one of my designs appeared in a recent Katy Keene Comic Book. I appreciate it immensely. I waited a long time to see one of my designs published, but it was worth it. I was about 15 or 16 when I designed the bathing suit that was published. Now I am 19, and still an ardent reader of Katy Keene.

I have gained many friends since the appearance of my design. I have enclosed my photo at your request for your personal pin-up board. I am very thankful.

Sincerely,
LOUISE ALOI (an ardent reader)

Dear Katy Keene:

12310-94 St., Edmonton, Alberta

I read your comic books and follow up on them. My Mother is making me a sweater with the initial K.K. on the front. My little sister has one with Candy on the front. She is 4. I got a brother five and he has K.O. on the front of his sweater.

You sure have nice clothes. I also cut out your cut-outs and play with them.

Yours sincerely,
DIANE TAYLOR

Dear Mr. Woggon:

I am, believe it or not, an ardent fan of your Katy Keene Comic Book at 35. I have always taken a great delight in Sis's antics. Now what my beef is that all the attention goes to Katy. Why not put a little attention on Sis for a change? Don't you think it's about time she grew up a little? She reminds me of Buttercup when I used to read Toots and Casper way back when. For years he was always a baby.

Sincerely,
MRS. B. E. LALONDE
16 Treadway Blvd.
Toronto 6, Ont., Canada

Dear Katy Keene:

Last night I had a dream. I was dreaming that I had a doll. Can you guess what kind it was? Well, it was a Katy Keene doll. I sent away for it and it was 9 inches long with black hair and it was dressed in a bathing suit which came off. Its clothes were made of cloth the designs were the best of the dresses sent in to her. I was wondering if there was such a doll. Would you please write and tell me.

MARGARET PRUE
266 Lonsdale Ave., Pawtucket, R. I.

Dear Katy Keene:

32 N. Bryant St., Orlando, Florida

I received your nice letter. I have your picture on the first page of my scrap book I made.

I was so glad that I got a letter from you that I fell over a wire fence when I was going to show your picture to my friend, Barbara. I hurt my leg, but it is well now.

Your sincerely,
ODESSA LEMONS

Dear Katy Keene:

I must tell you that you are very popular over here in Scotland. One of my friends receives your comics from a pen friend and they are passed on from one girl to the other.

Yours sincerely,

THOUSANDS NOW PLAY WHO NEVER THOUGHT THEY COULD

Miss Rosie Montemurro, Vancouver, B. C., Canada.

Now Plays For Dances

"I DIDN'T KNOW ONE NOTE! Three months later I started to play for dances. I have been invited to many parties and made people very happy with my music."

Myrella-Muquette Saint-Andre, Montreal, P. Q., Canada.

Learns Faster

"I have no special talent—but thanks to your method, I play my guitar (according to impartial people) better than many students who have taken lessons from teachers for longer periods."

Amazes Her Friends

"I bet some friends that I could learn piano quickly. They didn't believe me—because I am slow learning. Imagine their surprise when I played for them. One said, 'Why it sounds like you've been playing for years!'"

Louise Gomez, Oakland, Cal.

Now Famous Band Leader

"I got my start in music with a U. S. School Course. How easy it is to learn to read notes and play an instrument this 'teach yourself way' I've enrolled my two daughters."

Lawrence Gomez, top band leader.
